

State of NC Undergraduate Research & Creativity Symposium

I need your help to get the word out to your undergraduates regarding their participation at the 5th State of NC Undergraduate Research & Creativity Symposium (SNCURCS) to be held on Saturday, November 21 at UNC-Wilmington. All undergraduate researchers and creative artists are invited to present their scholarly work among others from the 110 institutions of higher learning in North Carolina.

It is free for students and their mentors. We will be arranging for bus transportation so students need not worry about getting to Wilmington and back. As noted at the link provided, students may present a poster or oral presentation. Once students have registered I will make contact with them about travel arrangements.

This is a great opportunity for your students to showcase their excellent work and to build further on their resume. A book of abstracts is printed and food is provided.

Associate Deans listed here: please alert your departmental undergraduate coordinators to distribute this message; and, Undergraduate Coordinators/Special Programs' Advisers listed, please distribute to your students.

The SNCURCS website is: <http://www.sncurcs.org/> and a flier for distribution is at: <http://www.ncsu.edu/undergrad-research/Images/sncurcs-flier.pdf> The registration deadline is October 27th at midnight.

Many thanks for getting the word out.

George Barthalmus